

The Earl of March are named The Sussex Food & Drink Awards
'Sussex Eating Experience of the Year'

The Earl of March are thrilled to have won the Sussex Food and Drink Awards 'Sussex Eating Experience of the Year' award on Wednesday, 1st February 2017. The awards saw the county's finest food and drink producers come together for an evening of celebrations at the Amex Stadium, including a wonderful seven-course banquet. Renowned as the Sussex foodie event of the year, it was hosted by Sally Gunnell OBE and Danny Pike from BBC Sussex.

Giles Thompson, Owner and Executive Chef said, 'We would like to thank all our wonderful customers for supporting us. It's our pleasure to work with the finest local suppliers and to create delicious dishes for them to enjoy.' Furthermore following a fantastic evening of celebrations, 'The Sussex Food and Drink Awards hosted a superb event and I'd also like to congratulate the other winners once again.'

The Earl of March is a country pub restaurant set against the picturesque backdrop of Goodwood and the South Downs in the village of Lavant near Chichester, West Sussex. It's exceptional 'country plush' ambience, superb cuisine and wide range of fine wines and ales make it the ideal place for any occasion. Their delicious menu is made up of carefully curated dishes, each created with the finest local ingredients.

The Earl of March marks their 10th Anniversary this year and are delighted to have been recognised for this award on such a landmark year!
